

Research Associate - Translational Medicine, Oncology and Immunology: Preclinical
Pharmaceutical Exploration- Requisition/Job #670V01R

Position Summary

Participate in a team responsible for the preclinical pharmaceutical evaluation of new targets and actives, employing pharmacodynamics studies and animal models of human disease.

Specific duties will include:

Immunoassays (ELISA, ELISpot, Proliferation, CRA, and Cytokine multiplex assay-Luminex)

Rodent handling (Suturing, Surgery, IV, IP, SC injection, Tumor measurements and Necropsy)

Tissue Culture, Flow Cytometry

Conduct studies in animal models of immunotherapy and tumor biology. Must keep thorough records of experiments, analyze data and present findings at project team meetings

Working with a team of researchers to evaluate new targets and actives in vivo and generate IND-enabling proof-of-concept data.

Job Requirements

BA, BS or equivalent in a life science discipline, and 2+ year's relevant experience academic or industry. Proficiency with immunological assays. Prior animal handling experience.

Proficiency with tissue culture. Familiarity with immunology and cancer biology. Flow cytometry experience a plus. Prior publications a plus.

Familiar with Excel and PowerPoint

MannKind Corporation is a biopharmaceutical company developing innovative products and drug delivery systems to treat and prevent chronic diseases. The product pipeline includes treatments for diabetes, asthma, cancer, and inflammatory autoimmune diseases. Join our team and discover where the best scientific and managerial talent is developing tangible solutions for today's diseases.

MannKind offers a competitive benefits package, high growth potential and the opportunity to become part of a dedicated team of professionals that will achieve the highest standards of excellence.

MannKind is an equal opportunity employer.

Please include the Job # in your subject line and Email a cover letter and resume with salary history to:

MannKind Corporation

Email: hr@mannkindcorp.com

28903 North Paine Avenue

Valencia, CA 91355